THINGS TO KEEP IN MIND
WHEN BUYING A WARDROBE

Preferred way of storing clothes

How you organize your things is key. You can choose between wardrobes with more hanging spaces or stacking spaces.

Civil Lofts for storage

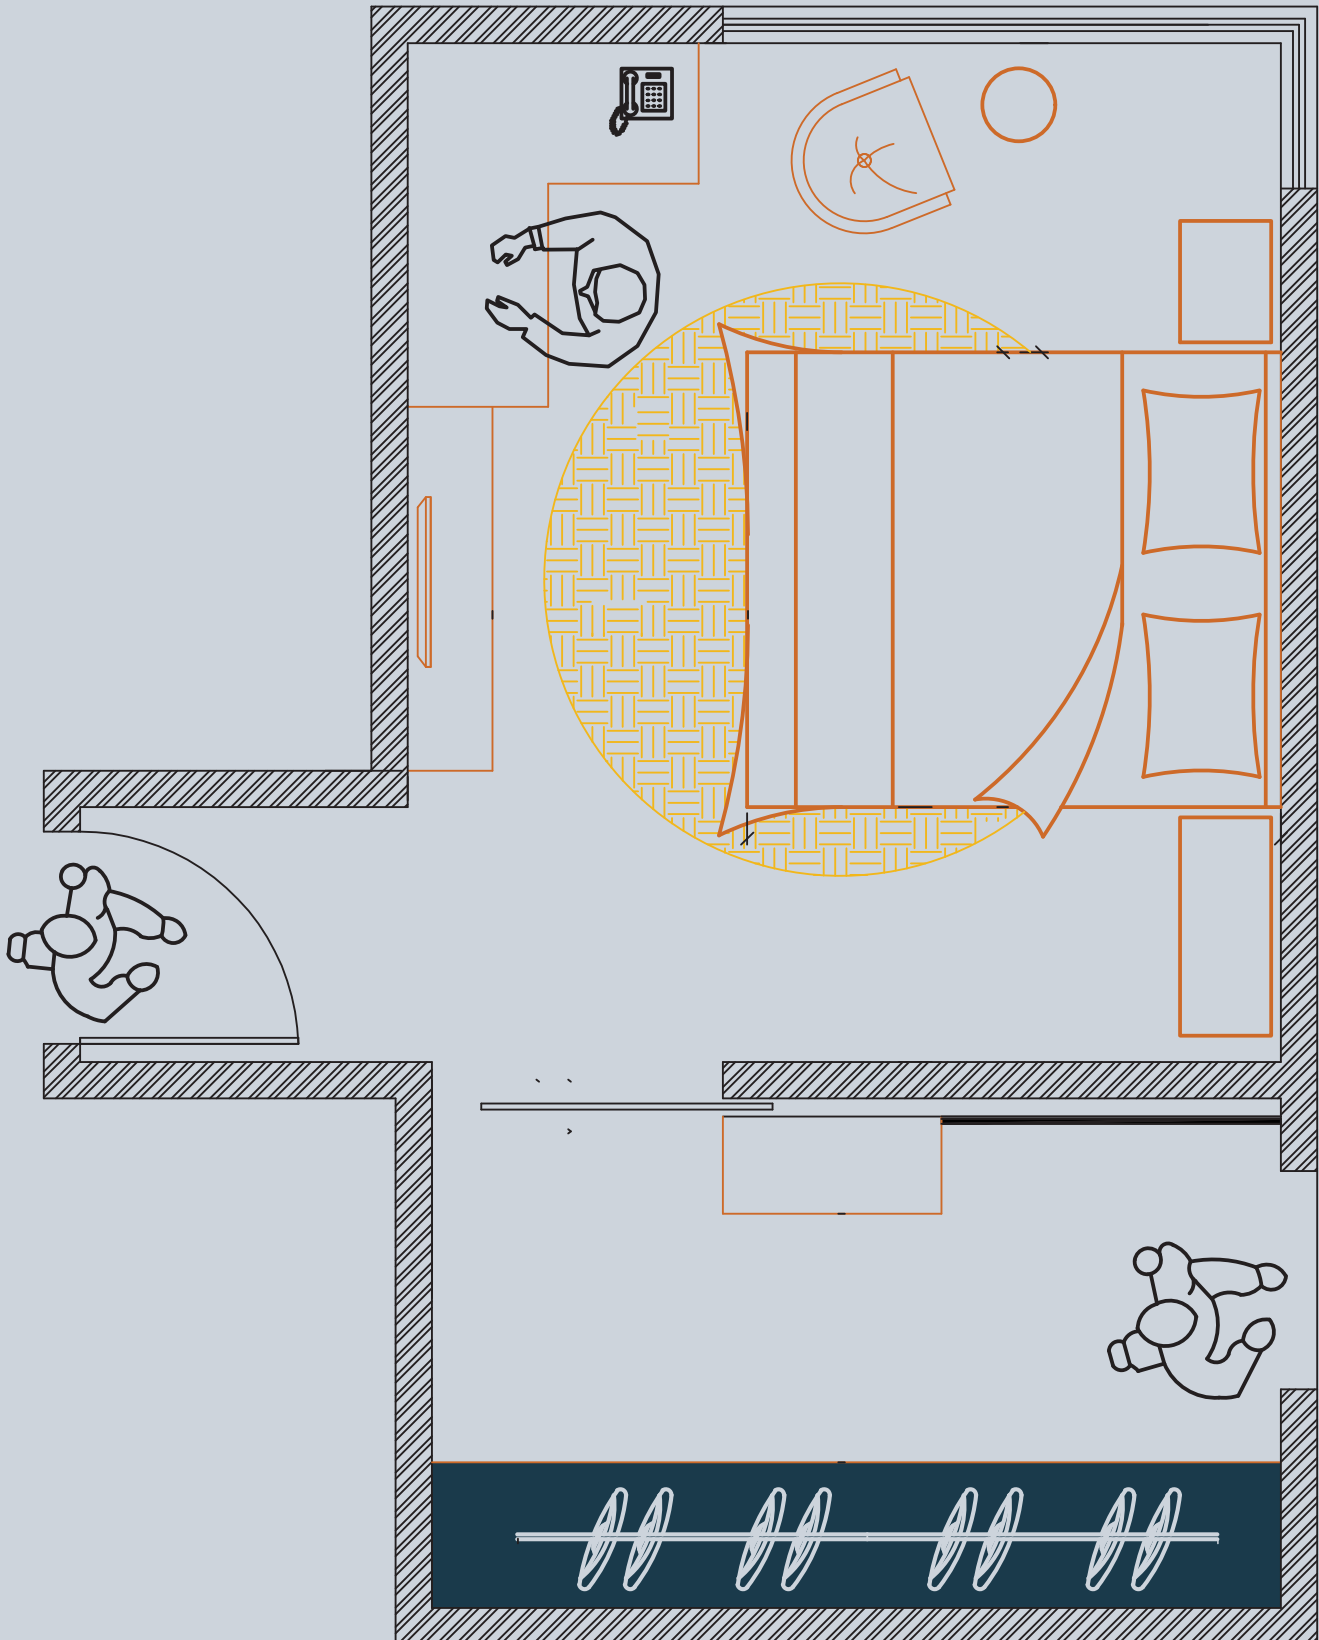

Niche

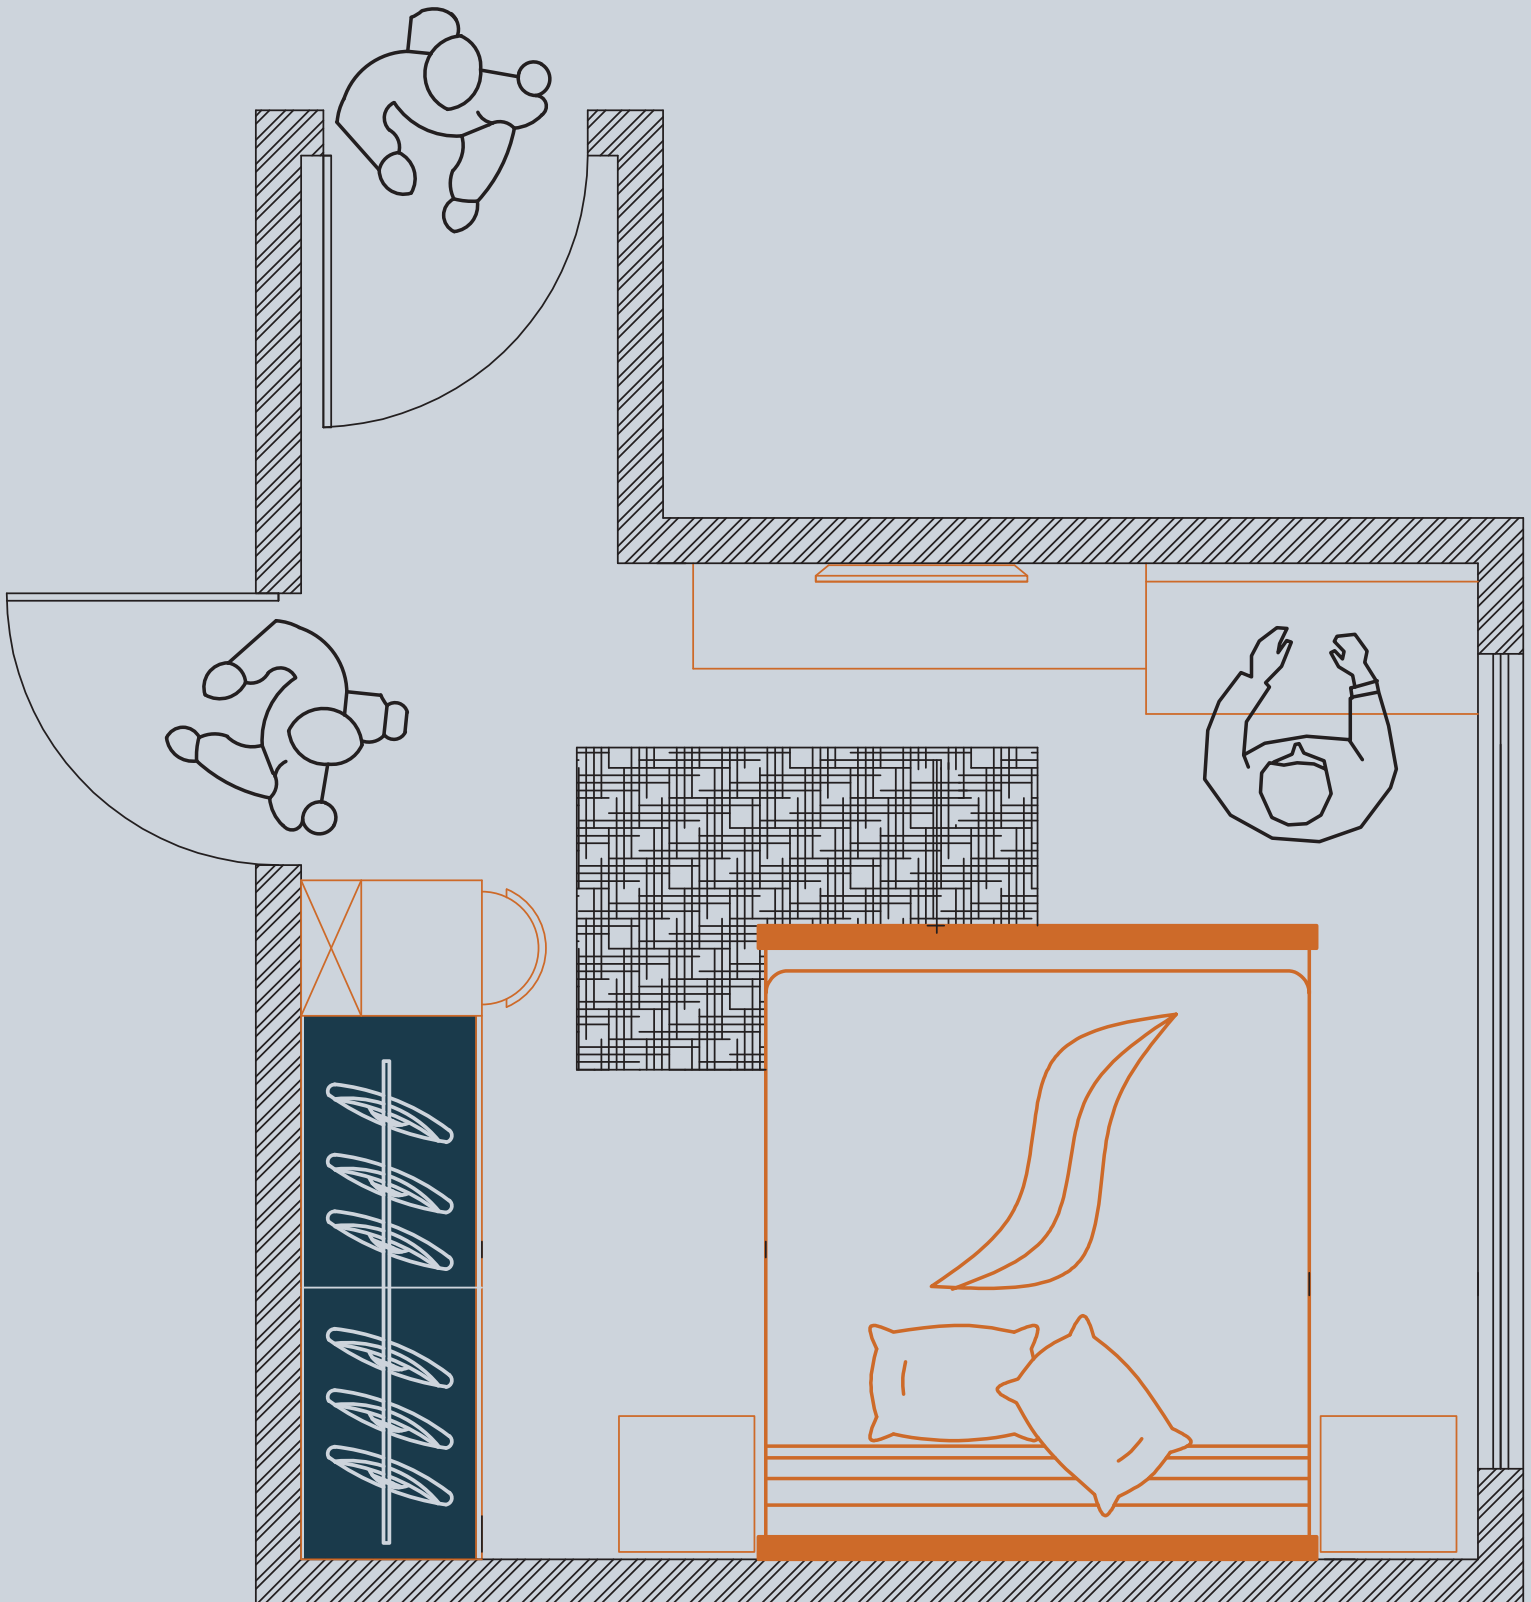

Room layout

The space you have determines whether you can construct a wall-to-wall, stand-alone or a wardrobe that's uniform with the wall surface. Sleek offers solutions for all kinds of bedrooms.

Material

A good way to ensure your wardrobe lasts long is to choose the right material. Sleek offers a variety of materials like BWR Plywood and Engineered Wood.

Finishes

Sleek offers a wide variety of finishes, depending on the look you're aiming for. Sleek offers Acrylic, Glass, Laminate, Wallpaper and PU, just to name a few.

Ergonomics as per age

Kids generally need spaces for uniforms, books and games and therefore need more stacking space. Middle aged adults have varied needs and so a combination of hanging and stacking works for them. Adults above 50 on the other hand, do well with ergonomically designed shelves and drawers with easy access.

TYPES OF WARDROBES

HINGE

Compact and classic. These wardrobes have shutters mounted onto the cabinet with the help of hinges. You have access to all the contents in the wardrobe at a go.

so far can come together to give you a wardrobe that seamlessly fits your life and everything else that surrounds it.

BUILD A MEMORABLE CHILDHOOD.

Children begin their day getting ready for school, wearing their uniforms, tying their shoelaces, grabbing their bags and running to the bus stop. After spending a busy day studying and playing, they come back home excited, complete their homework and then play a little more.

A perfect wardrobe knows what a kid really likes - playing and learning. Therefore open spaces for books, pen stands, drawers for toys and games, and shelves for clothes are all essentials. Like one of your own, a perfect wardrobe also takes care of the little ones through soft rounded handles.

A SPACE TO FIND THEIR CALLING.

They are not kids anymore, but they aren't adults either. Young girls and boys spend most of their time studying, but they do enjoy their time listening to music, playing the guitar or the drums, playing video games and reading novels. These are things that stick with them forever and some of them go on to inspire their calling.

A perfect wardrobe for the young and dynamic is one that helps them discover themselves and makes space for all their achievements, present and future.
